MISCELLANEOUS NOTES

From the Red River country a farmer writes to the Illinois Staats Zeitung that on the banks of the various streams of that region Germans [illegible] springing up like mushrooms from the earth flourishing farms now cover the [illegible] but lately a wilderness.

A Georgia physician has given public notice to the saloon keepers of the town in which he lives that he is a confirmed inebriate and that if said saloon keepers sell him any liquor they will be prosecuted under the law in such cases made and provided His method of proceeding is to be commended to all conscientious inebriates

Referring to the [illegible] that the nomination of Justice Davis may be ratified at Cincinnati the New York Sun says any Democrat who doesn't then see that the Democratic party must follow suit, will be fairly entitled to the champion suicidal belt. It is well enough satisfied with Governor Parker for Vice President, but would prefer our later Franklin.

Statistics of the Treasury Department since its organization show that the exports of the United States reached the colossal proportions of $1 900 000 000 in the four years from 1866 to 1869 inclusive against $174 000 000 in the four years from 1793 to 1796 inclusive This is a most suggestive representation of the increase of population, geographical enlargement of territory and development of resources during a period of seventy years

The Richmond lawyers are swarming over another fat case, the United States Attorney having entered suit to foreclose a mortgage on the Richmond and Danville railroad executed to the defunct C S A and now reverting to the United States Nearly $2,000 000 is now due for bonds iron etc, advanced to build the Piedmont road under contract of May 1864 The State of Virginia and other defendants claim to hold liens

The editors of the various journals in the city of Mexico recently formed themselves into a society, one portion of whose constitution binds them to abstain from mutual personal attacks in future, when discussing politics or any other matters There are some editors in this country whose conception of the courtesies of journalism is such that it would probably be vastly improved by a visit to Mexico and membership in the society aforesaid

Some interesting particulars about insurance in Chicago are related by the Tribune Estimating the total loss by the fire at $190,000,000 it places the proportion falling upon insurance companies at $90,000 000 Of this amount the solvent companies have thus far paid something over $40 000 000, a single agency having settled losses aggregating fully $6,000 000 The companies now in liquidation may be good for $10,000,000 more All this without a single lawsuit

There is now before the Italian Parliament a bill punishing with five years imprisonment all persons exporting children under twelve years of age to foreign countries under any pretext whatever It is supposed that this rigorous law will at length put a stop to this disgraceful traffic in little boys and girls, of whom thousands are annually exported from Italy to the United States for the purpose of making them organ grinders, street beggars, etc The number of Italian children thus sent to North America during the past twenty five years is estimated at 25,000

A Washington dispatch says The Committee of Ways and Means has finally disposed of the subject of the duty on wool and woolens, having decided to remove all specific duties and substitute a new scale of ad valorem charges The precise per cent has not been definitely announced but it is known to be closely in the vicinity of 50 per cent on all manufactured woolen goods, and 30 per cent on all wools, with the exception of the grade known as Cape wools upon which a further reduction has been made to 20 per cent The latter has been established in consequence of the large use of Cape wools in the manufacture of broadcloths and felting although combined with a larger proportion of native wools

The Bonapartist reaction in France is said to be becoming more pronounced and unmistakable every day People are beginning to think seriously of what would probably happen in the event of the death of M Thiers now likely to occur at any moment and it is reported there are very few who do not agree that the result would be the reappearance of the Empire or the Commune Meanwhile photographs of Napoleon III reading a book with his head resting upon one hand, and with the red ribbon of a Chevalier of the Legion d'Honneur in his button hole are for sale in every shop while pictures of the Empress and of the good natured looking Prince have appeared by hundreds in the Paris stores All of these had disappeared after the last revolution, and their reappearance indicates in a way a new change of public feeling

Scripture in Politics

[From the N Y Herald

There is an old saying that Satan can quote Scripture to suit his purpose It is no wonder then that politicians can do the same to suit theirs Here are a couple of cases in point An Indiana editor referring to the nomination of Judge David Davis as the labor reform candidate for President quotes as follows from the first book of Samuel

David therefore departed thence and escaped to the Cave Adullam and when his brethren and all his father's house heard it they went down thither to him

And every one that was in distress and every one that was in debt and every one that was discontented gathered themselves under him and he became captain over them and there were with him about four hundred men

That [illegible] delegates [illegible] political [illegible] a few more will be required to make a sensation

Another editor has been overhauling the book of the Prophet Joel and selects the following passages as [illegible] to the nomination of Joel Parker for Vice President on the same ticket It is supposed to be [illegible] addressed to the anti Grant men and denouncing the radical heathen

Proclaim ye this among the Gentiles prepare war wake up the mighty men let all the men of war draw near let them come up

Beat your ploughshares into swords and your pruning hooks into spears let the weak say I am strong

Let the heathen be [illegible]

Put ye in the sickle for the harvest is ripe come get you down for the press is full the fats overflow for their wickedness is great

Some may think that there has been enough of beating ploughshares into swords and pruning hooks into spears in this country during the last twelve years and that [illegible] However [illegible] Scripture for the labor reformers let them make the most of it For the press [illegible]

Cheating [illegible] Sacramento

The President has nominated Joseph Nimmo to be Supervising Inspector General of Steamboats

There has been a good deal of talk about the New York city treasury, but there is nothing in it

Ballarat Australia had a goose whose gizzard panned out 2 dwt of gold and a turkey whose gizzard turned out a lot of white and green to pazes

Forty years ago nearly the whole of Ohio was a dense forest now a resolution is introduced in the Ohio Legislature to encourage the cultivation of forests

The Tredegar Iron Works in Richmond, Va are pulling down nine of their buildings to make room for new car shops, which will be the finest in the South

There is said to be only one man who has a correct idea of the size of the United States, and he is the man who, in 1850 51, drove an ox team from Maine to California

The California Senate has passed a bill for the establishment of a State Printing office The bill provides that the State shall own its own office and appoint a competent man to manage it

The New York Times is satisfied that the Cincinnati convention will be "a crazy gathering without profit to its promoters and exciting only the pity or derision of the great body of the people"

The co operative novel, "Six of One and Half a Dozen of the Other" which has been running as a serial in Old and New is now the joint work of Rev E E Hale, Mrs Stowe Miss Lucretia P. Hale, Mrs. Whitney, F B Perkins, and the late F. W. Loring

A "big husky" attempted to cane a California editor the other day His physician thinks he may recover, but will have one glass eye and a gutta percha nose and a set of false teeth and a patent lower jaw and a wooden knee cap to make him presentable to the outside world

One of the basest libels which capital and monopoly have yet ventured upon is the statement that the labor reform candidate is the most corpulent member of the Supreme Court In point of fact Justice Davis only weighs 285 pounds, while Justice Clifford weighs 301

The official statement shows an increased revenue from the items of spirits, tobacco, fermented liquor, banks and banking incomes, gas and storage between September 1st 1871 and January, 1872, over the same period of the previous year, of $4,687,000, against a decrease from exempt articles, etc of $6 730 000

Business and brains is brisk Since January 1 1871, the whole number of copyrights issued up to the end of February, amounts to over 13 000 This includes copyrights for books, periodicals, newspapers music, works of art and various other subjects November and December are the heaviest months of the publishing business.

Senator Sumner, says a Washington dispatch of the 26th ult, objects to testifying before the Arms Investigating Committee But it is the intention of the Administration Senators to compel him to answer Should he still protest after regular summons has been served on him, he will be brought before the Senate on a resolution for contempt

The San Francisco Bulletin calls upon the people of that city to make terms with a new railroad company and leave the Central Pacific out It says There is not a man in San Francisco but says give the Central Railroad Company no more money—no more property with quest threats hanging over the city We are a unit on this point

The Secretary of the Navy informs the Senate that the expenses of the vessels employed on the coast of San Domingo since the beginning of the negotiations for the annexation of Dominica, amount to $490 000—no more than if they had been in service elsewhere in the West Indies, and that nine or ten vessels is the usual number employed in the waters adjacent to the West Indies

Wendell Phillips has been delivering a lecture in Philadelphia In speaking of Thomas A Scott, the great railroad king, he said Your great fellow citizen, whom some irreverently call Tom Scott, is at the head of a company controlling $450 000 000 He places one hand on the Atlantic and the other on the Pacific his influence extends from Saginaw to Mobile, and when he walks eastward from the Golden Gate the wind from his coat tails topples over a State Legislature at every stride

Effects of the Rule of M Thiers

[From the Sacramento Union

Controller Green of New York presents his estimate of the taxes needed to run the city government for the next fiscal year He says a rate of two and three quarters per cent will be required In round numbers the property of the city is assessed at $1 000,000 000 At 2 75 per cent the gross receipts of the revenue would be $27 500,000 Of this not less than $6,500,000 will have to be set apart for interest on the debts created by the Tammany thief "ring" during the last seven or eight years This thief "ring" during the last year of its official existence humbugged the people by reducing the tax rate to two per cent But as they spent and stole an amount each year nearly equal to a tax of four and a half per cent, they were forced to borrow or run in debt from 16 000,000 to $18 000 000 The Post says during the three years of the "rings" maturity the cost of the city and county government was little less than 4 1 2 per cent per annum on the assessed valuation of all the property in New York That was $45 000,000 a year This year's assessment, under an honest city administration including the interest on a debt of $100 000,000 inherited from the thief ring will be but $27 000 000 a saving of $17,500,000 a year In five years this saving will be sufficient, according to the Post, "to complete for the city the finest system of docks in the world and to build bridges connecting it with both New Jersey and Long Island" How seriously the rule of the thieves affected the current value of city property and how their rout has restored values to a healthier condition is explained in the following paragraph

The blow struck by the thieves at the value of land and buildings in New York was a terrible one In most parts of the city the depression of prices has been continuous and severe ever since their profligacy began to be understood But that the extent to which they have mortgaged the houses and the business of our citizens is understood it will be seen that the effect has been far too great for the cause The moral despondency of the people has affected the values more than the material waste of their rulers We can easily bear the burdens left to us and shall find them but a temporary check to our progress, and in view of the grand clearing of the political atmosphere which the recent tempest has wrought it is safe to say that property on this island though a little more heavily taxed is really worth more in its security and prospects that it was in the days of the ring's early ascendency when [illegible] were diligently seeking, it at prices from [illegible] to one third higher in the average than those demanded for it now

Mrs Fisk's Prospects

New York Letter to the [illegible]

I may make a passing allusion to this by saying that Mrs [illegible] Fisk has become for the first time a resident of this city For several years she has lived in Boston, where the reports of her husband's free life were weakened by distance and by the style which she was enabled to maintain She is now however surrounded by all the details of his vicious career and is compelled to witness the breaking of that once [illegible] Her [illegible] most annoying and perplexing task Here are houses to be let, rents to be collected, taxes and insurance and repairs to be paid, in addition to enormous sums of interest to be raised for the holders of bonds and mortgages Here too are perplexing matters of stock in railroads and steamboats whose liquidation will awaken the selfishness of others, and every advantage will be taken to diminish her claims All of Fisk's associates are unprincipled men, and most of them were confederates in robbery, hence they will steal as readily from his estate as from any other Mrs. Fisk met her first disappointment in this duty in the sale of the equestrian establishment, which did not reach the expected figures. I asked a gentleman, before the sale if the horses would bring half their cost "Oh, yes" said he, "I will give that much for them." But he backed entirely not an article was knocked down to him, while the prices of the horses were much less than the rate above mentioned There was at least $20,000 sunk at the sale, and I presume that a similar loss will attend each step toward a settlement. The disposal of twenty houses is no trifle in this condition of the real estate market, and can only be effected by great reduction from cost In this manner the property will melt away, and only afford vexation to those who have the deepest interest in it Such loss is not an uncommon thing in estates even better managed than this has been I knew an opulent merchant, who was President of a bank and a director in one of the greatest railroads in this State He was estimated by experienced men of his acquaintance as worth from $300,000 to double that sum. He died suddenly, leaving his family as it was supposed, in an independent condition, but I learned that the net proceeds of that estate were only $20,000. Unless a man has been of a miserly turn and has secret hoards of cash, his estate will dwindle fearfully when estimate is changed to reality

Unwritten History of Our Civil War

A CHANCE FOR PEACE AFTER SHARPSBURG—WHAT OCCURRED IN BOTH CAMPS.

[From the Macon (Ga) Telegraph and Messenger]

I had frequently heard that on the day succeeding the battle of Sharpsburg, in 1862, communications passed between General McClellan and General Lee, the object of which was to secure a truce for ninety days, with a view to the final cessation of hostilities, that they actually had an interview upon the subject, and that General Howell Cobb, at that time an officer in Lee's army, was very active in the effort to secure this result It had been for a long time my intention to question General Cobb about the matter, but I had never done so before June, 1868, when, upon the cars between Cincinnati and New York, I formed the acquaintance of a lawyer from the former place, named Key. I am not certain in my recollection about his name, but it was either Key or some name very similar to it He was a very prominent man in Ohio, and had been since the war several times Democratic candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court of the State. In conversation with him he informed me that he was, during the year 1861 and 1862, the confidential staff officer of McClellan. I embraced the opportunity to inquire of him concerning the truth of this rumor which I had heard. He replied that no communication had passed between Lee and McClellan upon the subject of a truce, for he certainly would have known it if there had. He stated, however, that on the day after the battle of Sharpsburg a very strong effort was made by a number of prominent officers of the Federal army to induce General McClellan to address to General Lee a proposition to declare a truce preparatory to a peace, which they urged the people wanted, and would have if an opportunity offered to secure it. Gen. McClellan himself sympathized with the object, but said that while under other circumstances he would favor the movement and assist in forwarding it, he knew that it would be useless for him to attempt it, for the reason that he was then, and had been for eight months previous, the subject of the most unwarrantable persecutions at the hands of the Administration, that if he should declare the truce it would be repudiated by President Lincoln, who would take advantage of his action to ruin him officially and disgrace him before the people.

During the last few days Gen Cobb spent in Macon, just previous to his death, without relating to him what I had been told by Mr. McClellan's staff officer, I took occasion to ask him about the Sharpsburg truce. He also stated that no communication passed between the two Generals upon the subject of of the truce, but that there was an effort made in the Confederate army to open such a negotiation The following is a brief statement of the facts which he related to me in detail On the day after the battle General Howell Cobb Gen. T. R. R. Cobb, and several other prominent officers of the Confederate army, had a conversation concerning the war, its character, probable duration, result, etc.

The conclusion at which they arrived was that, from the evidence of the earnest determination which each section had given during the eighteen months of the war, they were convinced that unless ended by diplomacy, its only termination could be found in the utter ruin and exhaustion of one section or the other They then agreed that that very day was the time to bring about a settlement. The last battle had terminated a terrible campaign in which each army had shown great courage and prowess Those two armies then lay confronting each other from the opposite sides of a battlefield upon which neither could to have achieved a victory It was as near a draw battle as would again be fought during the war If the armies declared a truce of ninety days, the people of each section who by that time had come fully to realize the difficulties of the tasks they had undertaken, would not allow hostilities to be resumed Impressed with the strength of these views, they determined to submit them to Gen Lee They at once secured an interview with him When they entered his office Gen Lee had in his hand a letter from Gen McClellan relative to the return of the horse of the Federal Gen Kearney, who had been killed a few days before at the battle of Chantilly Gen Cobb laid their views of the subject of the truce before Gen Lee, and urged their desire as strongly as the circumstances would permit Gen. Lee expressed himself in full sympathy with them, but could not be brought to believe that their efforts would be attended with any success He distrusted President Davis approval of such a step and was satisfied Mr Davis would disapprove of a request for an interview with McClellan Gen Cobb replied that if he would allow him to answer the letter in Gen Lee's name which he then held in his hand from McClellan he pledged himself that without writing about anything but Kearney's horse, he (Gen Lee) should in less than twelve hours receive a letter from Gen McClellan requesting an interview

Gen Lee was very sad and they left him in much trouble as to the proper course in the premises, but with the understanding that if he desired to move in the matter he would notify them and invite their assistance These officers heard nothing further from Gen Lee and the matter ended there

After the close of this statement, Gen Cobb for the first time, heard from me, in the relation of what had been stated by McClellan's staff officer, that a similar effort had been made by the officers in the Federal army to end the war

A Quietus on a Nuisance

A bill has lately been passed by the Legislature of California which effectually detracts from the legal power of irresponsible bummers and persons bankrupt in character as well as pocket to harass the owners of newspapers and other solvent parties by suits instituted for the purpose of extorting for money by blackmailing and false swearing Speaking of this bill, a writer in the Alta very sensibly says

Thanks to the enlightened judgment of our State Legislature, the human nondescripts who, without feelings to wound or character to lose have been accustomed to complain of libellous attacks, and whimper over damaged reputations are henceforward doomed to Plutonian shades, where there are no redressing laws or appeasing damages Mr Spilva lo in carrying through his libel bill has done a greater service to the community than unsophisticated mortals are expected to understand Only those who have been brought into personal contact with the moral and financial bankrupts who have sought, through the law courts, to obtain money compensation for alleged injuries to their most miserable characters, the entire loss of which would be the best accident that could happen to them, can have any idea of the human filth that journalists have hitherto been legally compelled to handle in their own defence When it is considered that plaintiffs in libel suits are invariably impertinent, obnoxious and poverty stricken individuals whose only aim is to extort money on the blackmailing principle, there is little difficulty in appreciating the great value of the new Act, which stipulates for a money deposit sufficient to cover the legal costs before an aggrieved party can commence an action for libel. An impecunious renegade is no longer able to [illegible] soft-hearted sympathy by legal proceedings, the avowed object of which is to regain an honorable name Ah! if the many innocent people who have generously deemed these make-believe martyrs the abused mortals they have endeavored to appear, only knew how shamefully their credulity has been imposed upon what egregious fools they would consider themselves Refreshing simplicity!

The press, with rare exceptions, is happily so conducted that the fear of monetary loss is insufficient to restrain its free utterances, but at the same time it would gladly [illegible] the annoyances of shysters and [illegible] vagrants This it is now enabled to do, and it therefore bids a long farewell to all pettifogging [illegible], who are shiftless alike in pocket and character.

CORRESPONDENCE OF TURKISH LOVERS.—The art of writing is not general among the Turks, and when a lover wishes to communicate his sentiments in writing they have a mode of effecting it without a pen, ink or paper, by means of flowers, fruits, woods, silks, stuffs and colors, of which they make a pocket each article having an allegorical sense The pocket is called a selam Those who employ this mode of communication have a pocket stored with necessary articles to compose a selam. They have a dictionary, which they know by memory, of the allusions they wish to give by their flowers.

An anilret signifies, "We are both of one mind," a piece of rose bush, "I weep continually, but you deride my tears" a piece of cloth, "I am tired with your importunities;" a piece of buckram or canvas "We shall be together to morrow" a piece of silk, "You have gained my mind" a looking-glass, "I am ready to sacrifice myself for you," a pistol, "I love you very much"

Fact Against Theory

If [illegible] it [illegible] were to [illegible] establish [illegible] they call the [illegible] Reform [illegible] certainly be able [illegible] Let [illegible] from the [illegible] That [illegible] against the [illegible] of the duty on coffee and tea and in favor of [illegible] repeal of the duties on coal iron salt sugar wool and woolen goods It says

For every dollar the tariff on these latter articles yields to the national revenues it yields from three to five dollars as premiums collected off the great mass of consumers to swell the wealth of the rich manufacturers and monopolists in the shape of premiums The taxes paid by the people on tea and coffee are all so much clear gain to the revenue and are scarcely felt even by the poorest of the consumers

These allegations as to profits of manufacturers and consequent oppression of the people are founded on two or three capital errors In the first place it is assumed that in every case where a duty is imposed on foreign goods domestic products of like descriptions are enhanced in price by just the amount of duty This in many cases is an entirely erroneous supposition For instance salt in New York and Chicago is now actually cheaper under a protective duty than it was in 1860 under virtual free trade The same has been true of leading lines of woolen goods during the last two or three years as compared with prices of the same twelve years ago Again admitting it to be a fact that prices of many articles are increased by the duties it is a ridiculous error to assert that the whole amount of such increase goes to swell the wealth of manufacturers and monopolists All know that the cost of manufacturing is in general considerably greater in the United States than in England Wages are much higher The premiums created by the duty therefore go mainly into the pockets of the laboring classes

A little experience is worth an indefinite amount of theory Under the existing system we see such prosperity throughout the United States as we never saw before In the face of such a fact, which is constantly present before every person who keeps his eyes open of what avail is it to preach that the people are the victims of a commercial and economic system that [illegible] robbery and oppression?

Circulation of Newspapers

Some interesting facts illustrative of the growth of journalism in our country have recently been compiled by the Census Bureau The following table will show some of the [illegible], the papers are classed according to their objects

	No	Circulation	Av ge
[illegible]	4 328	8,778 320	2 028
Agricultural	13	770 782	8 072
[illegible]	81	257 060	3 173
[illegible]	122	690 700	5 657
Literary	502	4,421 935	8 809
[illegible] or professional	207	744 530	3 506
Religious	407	4 764 358	11 706
[illegible]	6	73 600	12 250

Thus the religious press, which is a late growth, has attained a total circulation of more than half that of the political press Its average is, however much greater, being 11-706 to 2,028 for the political press. Next to the religious come the literary papers, with an aggregate of 4 421 935 circulation The total circulation of dailies in the United States is put at 2,606 547 of weeklies 10 591 743 The weekly press is therefore that with which the American people are most familiar, and is, perhaps, that which does the most for their education

The Methodist an influential religious paper published in New York, gives it as its opinion that during the last ten years the religious and literary have gained upon the political newspapers In that time the Independent has made an immense advance, the Christian Union has attained its present unprecedented circulation, the old standard religious weeklies have added greatly to the number of their readers The war did much for the religious papers by leading them to a freer and bolder treatment of national questions As they cannot compete with the dailies in the production of news, they have wisely turned their attention to the gathering of the best thoughts of our best thinkers on subjects of public interest This policy the Methodist truly observes, is giving the religious press a share in the leadership of opinion

The great progress of the religious press is due mainly to its emancipation from merely sectarian ideas, and its elevation to a higher and broader plane of thought and discussion This is not inimical to but is most consistent with true religious growth feelings and sympathies The political press is moving in a similar way by freeing itself gradually from the trammels of narrow and exclusive partisanship The whole field of discussion in journalism is broadening and journalism itself is attaining a dignity which a few years ago was unknown

In an endeavor to rebut the proof that the Legislature was guilty of "favoritism" to the extent of seventy five thousand dollars in the appropriation for the Canal and Locks at Oregon City, the Herald maunders in a sad way through nearly two columns In view of the facts we have published its attempts are frivolous. It had as well return to its old charge that we are in the habit of so changing the telegraphic dispatches as to mislead those who want the news

We learn from J M Fletcher Esq of Vancouver that the Secretary of the Interior has decided adversely to the Catholic mission claim at that place The decision however gives the mission what ground it had enclosed and in use in 1848 The town of Vancouver being interested in the case has pressed it to a decision It may however be appealed [illegible] the Courts of the United States

The head of the Revenue Bureau reports that the tax on tobacco is paid more honestly and ungrudgingly than any other No Governmental exactions can ruffle the placid temper of the habitual smoker corrupt his integrity or damp his patriotism Before the war he could buy good cigars at five dollars a box now he pays twelve or fifteen without a murmur and consumes them with the same equanimity as of old

It is reported that Chief Justice Chase is urging upon leading Democrats the necessity of holding a straight-out party Convention He is said to be looking jealously at the nomination of Judge Davis by the Cincinnati Convention

From the Tribune we learn that Capt Sheets party of surveyors arrived Friday evening in Tumwater and pitched their tents just outside the town They are now engaged in the final survey of the line of the railroad from Hodgden's Station to this city The survey has but slightly deflected from the stage road keeping along within sight the whole fifteen miles For the next two weeks Capt Sheets [illegible] camp in Tumwater surveying in that vicinity and through [illegible] the terminus

German American Sentiment

[illegible] meeting [illegible] was held in San Francisco The [illegible] Germans of the city [illegible] Mr Loewenberg in the opening speech upset the expectations of those who would like to see the German Americans carried over to the Democracy He repudiated the idea that they were the blind followers of Senator Schurz President Grant or anybody [illegible] that the principles of the Republican party were in the main the best for the country We take these extracts from his remarks

We further declare that although of German parentage we ceased to be Germans from the day we renounced all allegiance to our former home and swore allegiance to this our new and happy home [illegible] to be regarded [illegible] And as such American citizens and as a component part of this Government we will [illegible] faithful sentinels [illegible] guard watch and protect our glorious Republic against all invaders either foreign or domestic and if required give our lives for the preservation of the greatest gift of God to men to wit Liberty And as the true and faithful admirers and lovers of this Republic we reiterate that for the strict observance of the glorious principles underlying our Government we will disregard all claims of individuals either native or adopted and however high in position

Knowing that the existence of the Republic depends on the proper discharge of the duties and trusts confided to them are the Republic need not as yet despair for the want of the right material so long as we can find such citizens as our newly elected Governor Booth He is fully imbued with the dignities of his office and the responsibilities connected therewith and every official act of his has been strictly in accordance with the time honored rule which sheds so much luster around the American patriot and that is to act impartially without fear or favor and with a true observance of the law Our Governor knows no favored class among his constituents but regards them all alike But were it not that the people did rise in their majesty and bid defiance to the political combinations then made we would not be so fortunate in having our State presided over by a man like him Admitting that such patriots like Governor Booth may be like the angels few and far between he does not stand isolated and if sought for by the people enough of such material can be found to have purity in our Government and this shall be our special aim in the future We desire to preserve the Republic, the Constitution and the Government in all its branches and leave it the same clean and untarnished legacy to our successors as it has been handed down to us, and pledge ourselves to do all in our power that this country may continue to be in the future as it has been in the past, the asylum of all oppressed, of all the liberal and progressive element and not to be the rendezvous of corruption and dishonesty which threatens the downfall of our benign and liberal institutions For this object we are here convened, and to achieve this shall be our future united and harmonious aim not for the benefit of the Germans but for the welfare and happiness of America

Dissolving Views

The Cincinnati Gazette of March 20th has a Washington telegram on the prospects of the Cincinnati Convention The pictures presented are rather a series of dissolving views than anything else We quote these paragraphs

Horace Greeley in the Tribune gives full and distinct notice that, if the Cincinnati Convention goes for free trade or a revenue tariff that no possible candidate could induce him to support it Pennsylvanians who favor the Cincinnati movement also say that protection must be one of the planks or they will have nothing to do with it On the other hand the prime movers in the Cincinnati enterprise say revenue reform or what is called free trade is the essential basis of the undertaking and if this is abandoned there will be nothing worthy the formation of a new party Civil service reform and amnesty may be generalized but not so with tariff Upon this there must be a distinct utterance.

On the Democratic side there is a general demand that no nominations be made at Cincinnati. This is seconded by all the Eastern Republican newspapers favorable to the Cincinnati Convention with the exception of the Tribune which is non committal on that point It is conceded on all hands that Grant will be nominated at Philadelphia While many Republican members of Congress would prefer some other man it may be stated that very few Republican Senators or Representatives will leave the Republican party on that account or fail to support it With the exception of Sumner, Trumbull and Schurz no men of influence are likely to go over in any event Tipton who is now West is regarded on all sides as a heavy load to any party he may connect himself with

The report that Garfield has any leaning to the opposition to the extent of leaving the Republican party or refusing to support Grant if nominated is without foundation The fact is that the third party movement has less strength than it had three weeks ago and Democrats are beginning to see that while the Cincinnati Convention may be used as a tender to their machine they must keep up and rely upon their own organization

A Man Gets a Coffin for Another but is Buried in It Himself

(From the New York Herald 11th ult)

A very extraordinary argument in favor of temperance was furnished yesterday in Newark On Saturday one John Bokert a young man twenty years of age was sent by Superintendent Garrabrant of the Almshouse for a coffin in order to inter in the Potter's Field a poor pauper who had died in a house in Church street from smallpox Bokert was accompanied by another man

They procured the coffin one of the commonest kind and took it to the house in Church street. It proved however too small for the corpse and they started back to have it exchanged for a larger sized one On the way they neglected their errand and stopped in at several liquor saloons and took in copious supplies They became shockingly intoxicated so as to be unable to perform their errand Late on Saturday night the horse found its way back to the Alms house and stopped under a shed Bokert was found in the wagon alone His companion had remained in the city Being generally very quarrelsome when in liquor Bokert was left in the wagon and some blankets thrown over him Here he was left all night

Yesterday morning he was found dead alongside the coffin in the wagon The facts were reported to the County Physician who strange to relate did not deem it worth while to order an inquest but granted a burial certificate The unfortunate Bokert was placed in the coffin he procured himself and buried in the Potter's Field The burial of the smallpox corpse was superintended later in the day by Mr Garrabrant

An Less Comes [illegible] It is terrible to think of the agonies of a woman of cultivation and refinement when suffering under an attack of that dread disease kleptomania An instance of heart rending intensity took place the other day in Boston A elegantly dressed woman was detected in the very act of plagiarizing a pair of silk stockings She started turned pale and burst into tears suddenly conscious of her guilt and then in the most agonized manner besought the proprietor to release her and offered him a twenty dollar note for the stockings The gentleman kindly [illegible] the [illegible] woman and then taking the price of the stockings returned her the change from the twenty dollar note The poor woman then disappeared and was heard of no more although her bank note was [illegible] counterfeit

Anderson Cox a well known citizen of Walla Walla formerly for many years a resident of Oregon died a few days ago very suddenly of bilious colic He was on his way home from the Palouse country Mr Cox was a man of strong and decided character and was somewhat noted in politics He was once a member of the Oregon Legislature from Linn county His age was about sixty years

The Walla Walla Land Office did the following business for the four days ending last Friday Filed 131 pre emption claims for 17 000 acres all but ten being in Walla Walla county Fifteen homestead applications for 1 280 acres all but one being in the same county Thirty three of the pre emptions were in part of township 9 north range 38 east which was marked in 1861 by the surveyor as broken destitute of water and unfit for cultivation but now eagerly sought for

The Walla Walla S[illegible] of the 30th ult says On Saturday night last two prisoners made their escape from the Jail, and are now at large They are named respectively Alexander Lynch and Wm Johnson—the first held to answer the charge of assaulting his wife with intent to kill and the latter charged with obtaining goods on false pretences They made their escape between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock and were assisted from the outside The manner of escape was by cutting a hole through their cell floor and that accomplished the road to freedom was open

The Walla Walla fair grounds are to be sold by the Sheriff Parties holding a mortgage on the land want their money which it seems they can't get out of the Agricultural Society The State seems to think there is something rotten in Denmark and says The Fair last fall as we are informed [illegible] cleared nearly $2 000 and yet the most pressing debts incurred on account of the Fair remain unsettled The whole concern has the appearance of an unmitigated swindle and the question just now is very generally asked who has profited by the rascality

The most eloquent prayer ever [illegible] to a Boston audience [illegible] historical and proverbial It has its successor [illegible] even eclipsed by the following recent [illegible] before the Massachusetts House of Representatives by Rev W H [illegible] [illegible] of that body It is said to have [illegible] inspired by a [illegible] [illegible] lightest [illegible] We quote

All thy works praise Thee Architect Divine in all places of Thy Dominion We rejoice before Thee to-day that although fire and water may [illegible] produce antagonism from that antagonism we derive power [illegible] most promotive of human welfare and we pray amid the fire and water of opposing convictions touching a great moral interest under consideration that the threatened [illegible] circumstances [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the great good [illegible] number [illegible]

Mr William Davidson Real Estate dealer in Portland Oregon ranks as one of the most efficient and liberal workers in our State in disseminating information relative to our resources climate etc His letters are concise and truthful documents are printed in different languages and scattered broadcast in Europe as well as in the United States and British Provinces We are in receipt of a handsome pamphlet bearing his [illegible] stamp containing valuable information relative to the history [illegible] resources [illegible] of the North Pacific Railroad —O[illegible]

A Telling Speech

[illegible] [illegible] I know [illegible] want anything this [illegible] chancery and I know how it is [illegible] After hanging in chancery till the lawyers got my bottom dollar [illegible] honest farmers and I [illegible] [illegible] Now [illegible] King coming [illegible] nothing against my [illegible] take [illegible] [illegible] here pro[illegible] for masters in chancery masters in chancery yes we'll have them in Chicago thicker than fleas on a dog to eat our substance and get fat on our misfortunes I call upon the hard fisted yeomanry on the Democratic side of this House to rip this thing in the bud we don't want it and we won't have it We have got along so far without it and we can [illegible] all the money we want and sell all the property we've got without going into chancery to do it Now Mr Speaker though Nero fiddled when Rome was burning and [illegible] played [illegible] his wife's coffin that is no reason our people should be gobbled up in a chancery hopper after they have been burned out and ground out of what little they have left

Cultivation of Esparto Grass. — The February report of the Department of Agriculture at Washington contains the following concerning a product which might without doubt be profitably raised in Oregon

Considerable attention is now being paid in Europe and Algiers to the cultivation of a fibrous plant which is called alfa in Africa atocha in Spain but in commerce is actually known as the esparto grass (macrochloa tenacissima) This plant thrives throughout the entire coast of the Mediterranean, both in Europe and in Africa and its cultivation is extending very rapidly in consequence of the demand for it as a material for paper making It grows in very sterile regions even in the sands of the Sahara and thrives under excessive heat and in a dry and arid soil It is peculiarly valuable on account of its great tenacity and its resistance to fermentation for which reason it is used for sail ropes and the rigging of vessels The demand for this substance may be estimated from the fact that it was first brought into notice in 1862 when a cargo was transported from Oran to England and that the amount sent out has arisen from 10 000 quintals in 1863 to 370 000 in 1870 The value of the export from the province of Oran in Algiers alone amounted to $1 500 000

The paper made from this grass is of a superior quality and is stronger than that made from linen The demand for the material is very great in England and according to late commercial reports quite a fleet of vessels find profitable employment in transporting it from the Mediterranean coast to market

The latest hypothesis concerning Dr Livingstone is that he is imprisoned for debt Why a man need have got into the heart of Africa to achieve this purpose is hard to say but Mr Windwood Reade who has sojourned in Africa has simply declared this to be the great traveler's probable fate It seems that when you get into an African village a hut is given you and as long as you remain you are supplied with goats fowl yams, &c and when you are going away you are asked to pay the bill But suppose you don't pay your bill and there are people of that turn of mind—your luggage is taken, and if you have no luggage you are taken yourself This is what according to Mr Reade has happened to Dr Livingstone

Before you ask a favor of any man just consider three things First Can you not avoid it? Second Can the one you apply to grant it? Third Would you if your places were reversed do for your friend what you ask him to do for yourself? It is well to think of this, as it may change the whole question

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE —A half breed courtezan known as "Mary" who resides in the Court of Death, attempted self destruction last evening She had been drinking freely for several days past, and was reduced to a condition of semi-insanity. About 5 o'clock she called at a drug store and asked for a half pound of arsenic To the enquiries of the clerk as to what use she intended the poison she stated that her premises were infested with rats, and it was to destroy the vermin that she desired the drug With some hesitation, the clerk sold her the desired article He labeled it carefully with the significant word "Poison." The female departed and in about an hour Dr Davenport called at the drug store having the paper that had enclosed the arsenic with the label He stated that the woman had swallowed all the poison and wished to know what quantity had been sold It appears that the woman had taken the fatal draught as soon as she reached home Soon after she started for the river with the intention of drowning herself This determination she was prevented from carrying into effect by an officer, who supposed her to be drunk or crazy and arrested her On her way to the calaboose she was bailed by a friend, and liberated by the policeman It was then learned that she had taken poison with the view of suicide Dr Davenport was immediately called, but as some time had elapsed the subtle drug had entered the blood and circulated through her system the stomach pump was of no avail At latest accounts this unfortunate victim of shame and debauchery was thought to be hopelessly poisoned. Another melancholy [illegible] on the fruits of human depravity [illegible] could be assigned for such a determination [illegible] herself, but an utter recklessness of, and a disgust with life

MOUNT HOOD AT SUNSET

T[illegible]

Concerning the venerable mountain of the Cascade range much has been said at different times The physical appearance of the peak the probabilities of its having been at some remote date an active [illegible] and that at a [illegible] future time the incredulous inhabitants of Eastern and Western Oregon would witness an eruption that would compare not unfavorably [illegible] Vesuvius [illegible] World has also lent a fruitful source of speculative theories [illegible] the general contour of the peak with its rather peculiar locality would tend to inspire feelings of sublimity when viewed under the [illegible] and [illegible] circumstances a much more elevated conception can be entertained of the noted mountain when viewed between the pensive hour of sunset and twilight It should be at the close of a bright sunny day when there are no clouds to obscure the most extended range of [illegible] the combined effect produced from sky sun and scenery Choose some elevated point of observation any of the heights west of the city which will command at one single sweep of the eye the city with all its [illegible] and the region away to the foot of the Cascades Naturally the eye falls upon the busy city reposing almost at the feet Then it sweeps a little farther east until it rests on the clear winding Wallamet stretching North and South and which bisects the area of vision like a broad belt of silver still farther east wanders the restless eye scanning at one glance the immense range of woodland heights rising successively as the vision stretches towards the rising sun Here and there can be caught a narrow glimpse of a smiling valley while still beyond trend the wooded hills until they increase in magnitude and are indistinguishably blended with the foothills of the great mountain range Further on are stationed the eternal buttresses of nature on which rest the base of Mount Hood At the hour when the sun has sunk below the level of the horizon, and plunged in the dreamy haze of twilight all the face of nature except the peak, Mount Hood possesses a wealth of charming sublimity to which it is at any other time a comparative stranger First, it glows with an intense rose-tinted brilliancy better imagined than described by a feeble pen. The most subtle and imaginative pencil is alone adequate to the task The pure glittering snow, of perhaps a century's growth constitutes an alabaster background which with the neutralizing effect of rapidly approaching night reflects and softens to a rich mellow tinge the rays of the sun This continues for a brief period Heralding the approach of twilight rich purple tints followed by a darker shadow creep softly up from the base of the mountain The more obscure recesses of the ravines and chasms are soon shrouded in a deep sombre gloom The blue straggling spots of timber fade into a dark blackish purple Each moment the mountain sinks away from the golden flood in which it is bathed Purple succeeds gold and the deeper shades of night gradually subdue the lighter purple Soon nothing can be seen of its former beauty but a ring of roseate gold encircling the very crest of the mountain as with a crown A moment only and then it is gone the slanted rays die out and are lost amidst the constantly deepening haze Mount Hood then stands out in pale ghostly relief robbed of its asperities by the distance mellowed by the strange combination of hues—golden purple and black—and clad in the imperial robes of night

To properly appreciate we repeat, the united effect of sunlight and scenery, one must view Mount Hood between sunset and the gentle approach of night All other views of this peak can not be compared to one obtained at the time mentioned—weather and the condition of the atmosphere being favorable NATURE

AMUSEMENTS

THE THEATER —Wick Works Wonders was well performed to a small audience last night The piece and the acting was worthy much better patronage and those who failed to attend missed a treat This evening the drama of Rosedale will be given and we bespeak a full attendance, as this is the only chance our citizens will have of witnessing this troupe render this play which has been so highly appreciated by the many large audiences who have seen it in our city as performed by Mr Waldron and his company

BETTER THAN DEVIL'S FIDDLES —It is said that the boys complain about playing on the 'Devil's Fiddle, because their fingers are soon made sore We have heard how an instrument of greater power and volume of tone can easily be made though we fear we shall not be called public benefactors if we let the Portland boys know it But at all events we make the venture Knock the bottom out of a yeast powder can and cover the end with a piece of kid glove, tying it firmly around the can or, what is better, fasten it on with glue Puncture a couple of holes in this membrane, about a quarter of an inch apart, and run through them a piece of stout cord Fasten the cord with a slip noose to the end of a piece of stick and whirl the machine around like a 'locust The music is said to be far more diabolical The boys are now giving serenades with fiddles and have the impunity to approach within a few hundred feet of the house of their victim With the new invention they need not approach within several hundred yards They can keep out of the range of pistols and still make themselves heard

PLAZA CONCERT —Weather permitting, the following programme will be rendered at the Plaza this evening between 5 and 6 o clock by the Portland Brass Band, John Cordes master

Whist.

Here are the main rules laid down in a work recently published, entitled "The Theory of the Modern Scientific Game of Whist."

If you the modern game of whist would know
From this great principle its precepts flow:
Treat your own hand as to your partner's joined
And play not one alone, but both combined.

Your first lead makes your partner understand
What is the chief component of your hand;
And hence there is necessity the strongest
That your first lead be from your suit that's longest.

In this with ace and king, lead king, then ace;
With king and queen, king also has first place;
With ace, queen, knave, lead ace and then the queen;
With ace, four small ones, ace should be seen;
With queen, knave, ten, you lead the queen provided;
In other cases you the lowest lead.

Ere you return your friend's, your own suit play;
But you must try to return without delay.

When you return your partner's lead, take pains
To lead him back the best your hand contains,
If you receive not more than three at first;
If you had more you may return the worst;
But if you hold the master card, you're bound
In most cases to play it second round.

Whene'er you want a lead, 'tis seldom wrong
To lead up to the weak or through the strong.

In second hand your lowest should be played,
Unless you mean "trump signal" to be made;
Or if you've king and queen, or ace and king,
Then one of these will be the proper thing.
Mind well the rule for trumps; you'll often need them
When you hold five, 'tis always right to lead them;
Or if the lead won't come in time to you,
Then signal to your partner so to do.

Watch also for your partner's trump request,
To which, with less than four, play out your best.

To lead through honors turned up is bad play
Unless you want the trump suit cleared away.

When second hand a doubtful trick you see
Don't trump it if you hold more trumps than three;
But having three, or less, trump fearlessly
When weak in trumps yourself don't force your friend,
But always force the adverse strong trump hand.

For sequences, stern custom has decreed
The lowest you must play if you don't lead.

When you discard, weak suits you ought to choose,
For strong ones are too valuable to lose.

PICKINGS

A Detroit thirteen year old boy owns and "runs" a liquor saloon.

The newest style of coffee pot has a little steam whistle attached which warns the folks when the coffee is ready.

Albion, Iowa, is charged with an educated hog, who can play euchre, stand erect head downward, drink whiskey, and turn a somersault.

Ellen Breslin, of twenty-one summers, started from a second story window in Boston, Sunday night, stopping on the pavement soon afterward with a broken ankle.

250,000 francs is the value of the cigar stumps picked up annually in the streets of Paris, and sold to the tobacco manufacturers, so says the Journal de Chimie Medicale.

A Portsmouth, New Hampshire, paper says that there is a dog in that city, only two months old, that chews tobacco and will take intoxicating drink whenever invited.

A romantic young Frenchman reproached the girl who refused him, by stealing her bell-rope and hanging himself therewith to the banisters of the stairs, opposite her door.

From 1796 to 1830, 10,684 patents were issued at Washington. Since 1830, 100,000 have been issued. The annual average in the United States is 12,000; in England, 4,000.

Sweet butter can be purchased in Carroll county, Va., for 12 to 15 cents, while the storekeepers and farmers of that delightful region don't think of asking more than ten cents for a dozen eggs.

Two hunchbacks celebrated their nuptials in Paris the other day, in the presence of thirty invited guests, also hunchbacks. At the wedding-ball all the musicians were hunchbacks as also every dancer.

The jockey who rode the favorite at the Derby has been discovered to be a woman, who was urged by her love for a sporting nobleman to go on the turf, in order to be of service in making up his betting-book.

In a country paper, under the head of "personal," is the following: "Sherman has interviewed the Pope. We are not informed whether he kissed the Pope's toe. They say he kissed Harriet Beecher Stowe once."

Vinaigrettes are again coming into fashion. No lady considers her toilet complete without one, and some of them are so large and heavy that they might be used most effectively either as offensive or defensive weapons.

The greatest run of luck on record is that of a Baltimore cigar dealer, who, within the last three months, has inherited a fortune, drawn a big lottery prize, found $7,000 buried in the cellar of his house, and lost his mother-in-law.

A few Sundays ago several "court" belles, impious and fond of the "Boston" who were caught by the sexton dancing that mazy measure with their equally impious beaux in the vestibule of a fashionable Washington Church, to the tune of "Come ye Disconsolate," which was being sung at the time by the choir.

A thief stole the overcoat of a reporter recently. The paper announced the fact, together with the information that the owner of the garment was just recovering from an attack of small-pox of the most malignant type. It is feared the ruse of the despoiled reporter will prove "too thin."

One of the members of the present New Zealand Parliament was, when an infant, carried off by a large female monkey in Cape Colony, South Africa. Three months afterwards he was rescued by a party of hunters, who discovered him being carefully tended by the animal which stole him.

A lady recently died at Utica leaving seven children, the youngest only a few days old. Soon after her demise the children were taken with the small-pox, and the father was compelled for days to care for them alone, day and night, no one being willing to give him assistance, save a physician, and he was obliged to carry milk to the house for the babe.

A Syracuse genius has discovered a method by which a waterwheel can be run without water. For water he substitutes iron balls, which run into the buckets of the wheel, and being discharged below into a receptacle provided for the purpose are carried up by an elevator, propelled by the wheel, to do service as long as the turning of the wheel is desired.

In Cashmere one hundred thousand persons are employed in the shawl manufacture. The weavers are all males; most of the spinners women. A female spinner earns about seventy-five cents a month. The weaving of a shawl of ordinary pattern occupies three weavers for three months, the more elaborate and costly from twelve to fifteen.

Baptist Statistics.

We take from a religious exchange the following statistics of the Baptist denomination.

The Baptist Year Book of 1872 contains a very valuable summary of the statistics of that energetic and growing denomination in the United States. From this we learn that the number of members is 1,485,191, of churches, 18,397; of ministers, 12,013. Comparing the number of members by States, we find that Georgia stands first on the list, having 145,251, the next in order is North Carolina, showing 120,885, New York is third in rank, having 111,821. The ratio of Baptist communicants to population is in the Southern States extraordinary, being in Georgia one to eight of the whole people, in South Carolina and Virginia, one to nine, it is the smallest in the West, being in Ohio and Iowa one to sixty-five of the population, and in Wisconsin one to ninety-three. The ratio of communicants to the whole population of the Union is one to twenty-six.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TUESDAY EVENING, April 2, 1872.

Gold in New York, 111¼.

Portland Legal Tender quotations are still 90@ buying and 91½ selling.

We have no changes to note in paints, oils, dry goods, or woolens. Prices remain firm and steady, at figures quoted below.

The San Francisco press calls upon the California Legislature to abolish compulsory pilotage at that port. The Oregon Legislature should do similarly in regard to pilotage at the mouth of the Columbia river.

The difficulty of obtaining money for investments, and for the purpose of building and making other improvements, is quite embarrassing. It is true that large disbursements are being made in the State on account of the railways, and unusually large sums have been sent into circulation since last fall by the purchase of domestic produce. These will now be further augmented by payments for wool, and, as prices for this staple now range so high, the volume of circulation in the interior will be materially increased. But these demands for money reduce the bulk of available funds here. No great difficulty is experienced in the collection of small bills, as the money in the country is pretty widely diffused and distributed by payments to farmers and laborers. But the bulk of the coin thus disbursed finds its way at once through the channels of retail trade, and is sent out of the State to pay for manufactured goods in all their various forms. In consequence money in considerable sums is practically unobtainable. Those who had money have used it in purchasing land, or making improvements, and it has thus been scattered in small sums among the many. Hence the difficulty of obtaining considerable loans. No remedy for this state of things, short of the establishment of a proper industrial system in our State, will avail. Productive industry among us, the creation of manufacturing establishments, and the building up of a system which will enable us to hold a larger percentage of our money at home, instead of sending it out of the State to pay for products of labor and a profit on capital elsewhere, is our only true remedy.

The Iron Trade in all its branches is now presenting the same unusual features that characterize the wool market. Latest Pittsburg dates report that the Iron Furnaces there and throughout Pennsylvania have sold largely ahead, and inquiries for future delivery were very numerous. The demand for Iron of all descriptions, raw and manufactured, in Europe exceeds the supply. Present rates are stimulating the erection of a large number of new furnaces in different parts of the United States, and the product of 1872 will show a vast increase over that of 1871. It is believed that Great Britain has reached the limit of production, while in the United States the interest is still in its infancy, and there is practically no limit to the amount that may be produced. As yet in our State the absence of coal and limestone in proximity to our beds of iron ore has been against the development of iron industry, but this may be overcome in time.

Produce Market.

WHEAT—There is literally nothing doing. Purchasers seem to be out of the market. For good lots, sacked and delivered, $1 65 to $1 70 per cental could probably be realized.

FLOUR—Demand limited. No change in quotations. A considerable surplus yet remains in the country, with prospect for working it off at paying rates rather dull.

BUTTER—A large lot received by steamer Pacific, from California. Jobbing at 30@a35c per lb.

EGGS—Firm at previous quotations.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW RE...

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his old office, Kearny street, corner of Commercial, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in finding out new remedies, and has returned with additional facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering ... from the effects of secret indulgence ... absorbed into the system! Look at the ... and disfigured faces and their broken ... disqualifying them for the ... or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid ... sands suffer until death closes the ... guardians, friends, attend to those who ... any of these horrible life-destroying ... they are cured for and cured before it ... them immediately to Doctor Gibbon ... made private diseases his especial study ... is certain to cure the most inveterate cases ... mercury or any injurious drugs. It is ... who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the ... pretended doctors who infest all cities, putting ... in curing all diseases in a few days ... public by using the names of eminent physicians of Europe and other places. Be therefore careful ... strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of a charlatan.

Seminal Weakness.

... solitary vice, or depraved sexual ... by the youth of both sexes ... producing, with unerring certainty ... of morbid symptoms, unless combatted ... medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance ... the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ... the rustling of leaves and rattling of ... about the loins, weakness of the limbs ... clouded intellect, loss of confidence ... approaching strangers, a dislike to form new ... disposition to shun society, loss of ... flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the ... furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs ... sweats, monomania and frequently ... not obtained, should apply immediately ... or by letter, and have a cure effected by his ... entific mode of treating this ... which ... a quick and radical cure. MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are ... under any of these fearful maladies, should not ... sacred responsibility resting upon them ... obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give ... patient a written instrument, binding himself ... radical and permanent cure, or makes no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon ... tions, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from ... curiosity, to any part of the country, with full directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in a letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and ... who, with bogus sworn certificates, dupe the unwary ... some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became doctors too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their names. ... their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets. For as advertising physicians, in nine cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus bills, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearny street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 1957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.
